ISO CERTIFIED

Through our ISO 9001:2015 certification, ACHC demonstrates our commitment to quality. ISO 9001 is the international standard that specifies requirements for a quality management system (QMS). Certification is reaffirmed through annual audits to ensure that organisations continuously implement steps to achieve their goals and objectives, and to create an organisational culture that engages in a continuous cycle of self-evaluation, correction and improvement of operations and processes. ISO 9001 certification demonstrates a thoroughly developed QMS, and an organisation's ability to perform in a consistent manner with every process, every interaction, and every decision it makes.

RELEVANT STANDARDS

ACHC International offers standards developed specifically for sleep centres that are designed to be relevant to your business practices and facilitate higher-quality patient care.

SLEEP LAB/CENTRE

Accreditation for sleep testing services conducted in Independent Diagnostic Testing Facilities (IDTFs), physician-based testing facilities, or hospital-based testing facilities. Sleep Lab Accreditation includes all necessary Home Sleep Testing (HST) standards.

HOME SLEEP TESTING

Accreditation as a stand-alone option for polysomnography services that are conducted only in the home setting.

CUSTOMER SERVICE

ACHC International offers local resources to guide you through every step of the accreditation process. As your trusted partner in accreditation, we are committed to helping your organisation demonstrate a commitment to quality patient care and drive continuous improvement.

PARTNERING TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Since 2013, ACHC has partnered with DNV-GL Healthcare to offer a more relevant single-source accreditation solution in the United States for hospitals and healthcare systems with ancillary services. In this programme, hospital-based healthcare providers are assessed according to the DNV-GL Accreditation Standards, which are tailored to the needs of acute care facilities. Community-based healthcare providers are assessed according to the ACHC Accreditation Standards, created specifically with their needs in mind.
